

CELEBRATING THE POWER OF LITERATURE TO PROMOTE PEACE,

DAYTON LITERARY PEACE PRIZE OPENS 2018 CALL FOR ENTRIES

Submission deadline is March 16, 2018;
winners receive $10,000, runners-up receive $2,500

Dayton, OH (January 29, 2018) – The Dayton Literary Peace Prize today launched its call for submissions for outstanding fiction and nonfiction books published in 2017 that promote peace and non-violent conflict resolution.

Inspired by the 1995 Dayton Peace Accords that ended the war in Bosnia, The Dayton Literary Peace Prize celebrates the power of literature to promote peace and global understanding and is the only international literary peace prize awarded in the United States. Past winners encompass a range of established and emerging writers, including Karima Bennoune, Edwidge Danticat, Junot Diaz, Dave Eggers, Yaa Gyasi, Adam Hochschild, Marlon James, Adam Johnson, Andrew Krivak, Chang-Rae Lee, Viet Thanh Nguyen, Francine Prose, Wilbert Rideau, Bob Shacochis, Andrew Solomon, Susan Southard, Bryan Stevenson, and Josh Weil.

The Prize comes with a $10,000 honorarium for nonfiction and fiction winners and a $2,500 honorarium for runners-up. All honorees will be celebrated at a gala ceremony in Dayton on October 28, 2018.

To submit a book for consideration, please visit <http://www.daytonliterarypeaceprize.org/2018-guidelines.htm>. The submission deadline is March 16, 2018. Finalists will be announced in August 2018.

Publishers may submit English-language books first published or translated in 2017 for consideration for the 2018 Dayton Literary Peace Prize. Submissions may address the theme of peace on a variety of levels, such as between individuals, among families and communities, or among nations, religions, or ethnic groups.

About the Dayton Literary Peace Prize

The Dayton Literary Peace Prize honors writers whose work uses the power of literature to foster peace, social justice, and global understanding. Launched in 2006, it is recognized as one of the world's most prestigious literary honors, and is the only literary peace prize awarded in the United States. As an offshoot of the Dayton Peace Prize, the Dayton Literary Peace Prize awards a $10,000 cash prize each year to one fiction and one nonfiction author whose work advances peace as a solution to conflict, and leads readers to a better understanding of other cultures, peoples, religions, and political points of view. Additionally, the Richard C. Holbrooke Distinguished Achievement Award is bestowed upon a writer whose body of work reflects the Prize's mission; previous honorees include Wendell Berry, Taylor Branch, Geraldine Brooks, Louise Erdrich, Barbara Kingsolver, Nicholas Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn, Tim O'Brien, Marilynne Robinson, Gloria Steinem, Studs Terkel, Colm Tóibín, and Elie Wiesel.
